Table of Contents

Contents

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Foreword</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I – The focus of this book</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1. Introduction</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. What is characteristic of NPM?</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Is NPM in decline?</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>II – Towards outcome-based public management in Finland</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1. Introduction</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Changing structures and processes in the public sector: NPM mode</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Implementation of Performance Management and TQM in Finland</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Towards the new model of public management</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.1. Rethinking the role of public managers</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.2. The need to see the outcomes as the starting (and final) point for public management</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.3. The need to understand the mechanism for increasing outcomes</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. Conclusions</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
III – The unfulfilled promises of performance management in China ................................................................. 31
  1. Introduction ............................................................................................................................. 31
  2. The development of Chinese Government performance management ........................................ 31
     2.1. The first approaches to implementing performance measurement and management .......... 32
     2.2. Recent developments ..................................................................................................... 34
  3. The distinct character of Chinese Government performance management ........................................ 35
  4. Main implementation problems ............................................................................................ 37
  5. Conclusions .......................................................................................................................... 39

IV – The professionalization of legislative bodies in Crimea ..................................................................... 43
  1. Introduction .......................................................................................................................... 43
  2. Some perspectives on understanding legislative bodies ......................................................... 44
  3. Assessing the training needs of the Verkona Rada .................................................................. 48
  4. Analysis .................................................................................................................................. 52
  5. Conclusions ............................................................................................................................ 54

V – Implementing Certified Training in Belgium ....................................................................................... 57
  1. Introduction ............................................................................................................................ 57
  2. Context: the Belgian federal administration ........................................................................... 57
     2.1. Diversity of the Belgian federal public service .................................................................. 58
     2.2. Public sector reform in Belgium ....................................................................................... 62
  3. The system of certified training .............................................................................................. 62
     3.1. Participating in a certified training course ........................................................................ 63
     3.2. Training needs analysis .................................................................................................... 65
     3.3. Finding the right partners ............................................................................................... 67
     3.4. Course design .................................................................................................................. 67
     3.5. Training development and implementation ..................................................................... 68
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Pages</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>3.6. The certification test</td>
<td>69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.7. Passing the test</td>
<td>70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.8. Post-test analysis</td>
<td>73</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Concluding remarks</td>
<td>74</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

VI – Public sector human resource developments in ‘Developmental States’ in Africa | 75
--- | ---
1. Introduction | 75
2. Contextual Perspectives | 75
3. The notion of a ‘Developmental State’ | 77
4. Public sector human resource developments in ‘Developmental States’ | 79
   4.1. Management Development Institutes | 81
5. Core paradigm shifts determining human resources development | 83
6. Conclusions | 86

VII – Changing modes of decentralization in Romania | 87
--- | ---
1. Introduction | 87
2. Changing reasons for and modes of decentralization | 88
3. Conclusions | 92

VIII – Metropolitan Governance in the Federalist Americas | 95
--- | ---
1. Introduction | 95
2. Metropolitan governance and Governments | 95
   2.1. Research scope and research questions | 97
3. The patterns of metropolitan governance | 100
   3.1. Forms of metropolitan initiatives | 101
   3.2. Factors explaining the patterns, emergence, and dynamics of metropolitan initiatives | 103
   3.3. Political legitimacy of metropolitan initiatives | 107
4. Conclusions | 110
IX – The fantasy of scale in the UK and Indonesia .............................. 113
  1. Introduction ............................................................................ 113
  2. Local government proliferation ............................................... 116
  3. Large-scale local government ................................................... 118
  5. The creation of the new unitary authorities ......................... 119
  6. The scale of the new unitaries ............................................... 121
  7. The disappearing bedrock ....................................................... 123
  8. Conclusions: Local authority size and performance – a complex mosaic ................................................................. 124

X – Participation and partnerships developments on local level in South Africa ................................................. 129
  1. Introduction ............................................................................ 129
  2. “Developmental” local government ......................................... 130
  3. Towards a paradigm of participatory development ................. 132
  4. Opinion about participation .................................................... 135
    4.1. Opinion of local politicians ............................................. 135
    4.2. Opinion of community organizations .............................. 137
    4.3. Challenges ....................................................................... 139
  5. Municipal Service Partnerships ................................................ 140
  6. Conclusions ............................................................................. 143

XI – Improving marketing of eGovernment services in Egypt .................................................................................. 145
  1. Introduction ............................................................................ 145
  2. Developing eGovernment in Egypt .......................................... 146
    2.1. Marketing eGovernment services in Egypt ....................... 147
  3. Evaluating eGovernment development and effectiveness of eGovernment marketing in Egypt .............................. 148
Table of Contents

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>3.1. Internet usage duration</td>
<td>150</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.2. Purpose of Internet usage</td>
<td>151</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.3. Respondents’ awareness about eGovernment services in Egypt</td>
<td>152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.4. How respondents first got to hear about the eGovernment program in Egypt</td>
<td>152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.5. Intention to use and actual use of eGovernment services</td>
<td>153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.6. Type of eGovernment services used</td>
<td>153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.7. Reasons preventing respondents from using eGovernment services</td>
<td>154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.8. Reasons that would make respondents use eGovernment services</td>
<td>155</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.9. Satisfaction with eGovernment services used</td>
<td>155</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.10. Potential benefits and future of eGovernment</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.11. Effectiveness of marketing eGovernment</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Conclusions</td>
<td>158</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

XII – The elusive quest of accountability in Canada

1. Introduction                                                       | 161  |
2. Wading gently into the conceptual quagmire                          | 162  |
3. Scandal and corruption: an enduring feature of Canadian politics    | 166  |
4. Regulating ethical behavior: a never-ending process of administrative reform | 171  |
5. A new regime of openness, transparency and accountability?           | 174  |
   The Federal Accountability Act and beyond                            | 174  |
6. Combating scandals and mismanagement                                 | 179  |
7. Conclusions                                                         | 183  |

XIII – Evolving State-market relations in Japan

1. Introduction                                                       | 185  |
2. Social and economic development and roles of Government...          | 186  |
3. Major reform efforts in the last three decades: changing focus of reform under different Prime Ministers.............................. 187

4. Changes of roles and responsibilities of Government as reflected in specific cases of privatization and other reform................................................................. 191
   4.1. Railways............................................................................. 191
   4.2. Telecommunication services............................................. 192
   4.3. Air service........................................................................ 193
   4.4. Airports and other social infrastructures ......................... 194
   4.5. Postal Services ................................................................. 195

5. Characteristics of the process and contents of administrative reform in Japan ........................................................................ 197

6. Conclusions............................................................................. 199

XIV – The growth of the third sector in China........................... 201
   1. Introduction ............................................................................ 201
   2. Definitions of Chinese NPs and the Current Status Quo........ 202
   3. The History of China’s NPOs.................................................. 203
      3.1. The Restricted Development Period (1949-1966)............ 203
      3.2. The Waning period (1966-1978) ..................................... 204
      3.3. The Reinvigoration period (1978-1988)......................... 206
      3.4. The Development period (1988-1998)............................ 206
      3.5. The Downturn period (1998-2001)................................. 207
      3.6. The Rapid development period (2001-to the present)..... 208
   4. Regulations on NPOs in China ............................................... 208
      4.1. The regulations for legitimacy ....................................... 208
      4.2. Regulation on management ........................................... 209
      4.3. Regulations on the funding ............................................ 210
   5. Innovations in the Chinese grassroots NPOs........................... 211
   6. Blocking or dredging? The cooperative road of grassroots NPOs and Government......................................................... 214
   7. Conclusions............................................................................. 215
XV – Conclusions: Trends in public administration reforms today

1. Introduction
2. Lessons learned from country studies
3. Conclusions

XVI – References

XVII – About the authors

Table of Contents