INTRODUCTION AND ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Future of Transnational Law: Competing Institutions, Conflicting Narratives, and Legal Pluralism

PART I. APPROACHES TO TRANSNATIONAL LAW

Whither China’s Non-interference Principle?

I. INTRODUCTION

II. NON-INTERFERENCE PRINCIPLE: HISTORICAL AND TEXTUAL EXAMINATION

A. Non-Intervention Principle in International Law
B. Non-Interference Principle in China’s Foreign Policy

III. EROSION OF NON-INTERVENTION PRINCIPLE IN INTERNATIONAL LAW

A. Internationalization of Human Rights
B. The Evolving Nature of ‘Threats to the Peace’
C. The Emerging ‘Responsibility to Protect’

IV. CHALLENGES TO CHINA’S NON-INTERFERENCE PRINCIPLE

A. Challenges to Non-Interference in China’s Internal Affairs
B. Challenges to China’s Non-Interference in Other States’ Internal Affairs
V. NON-INTERFERENCE PRINCIPLE IN CHINA’S NEW FOREIGN POLICY
   A. Background of China’s New Foreign Policy 45
   B. Content of China’s New Foreign Policy 47
      1. Constructive Involvement 47
      2. Mutual Respect and Mutual Learning of Different Civilizations 48
      3. Peaceful and Common Development 49
      4. A Defender of Current International System and International Law 50
   C. IS NON-INTERFERENCE STILL A BASIC PRINCIPLE IN CHINA’S FOREIGN POLICY? 51

VI. CONCLUSION: WHITHER CHINA’S NON-INTERFERENCE PRINCIPLE?
   A. MORE SOFT INTERFERENCE 53
   B. LIMITED AND CONDITIONAL SUPPORT FOR FORCIBLE INTERFERENCE 54

Transnational Judicial Dialogue as an Organisational Field 57

I. INTRODUCTION 57

II. SETTING THE STAGE 59

III. ORGANISATIONAL FIELDS 62

IV. THE STRUCTURATION OF THE TRANSNATIONAL ORGANISATIONAL FIELD OF COURTS 66
   A. INCREASE IN THE EXTENT OF INTERACTION AMONG ORGANISATIONS IN THE FIELD 67
   B. EMERGENCE OF SHARPLY DEFINED INTERORGANISATIONAL STRUCTURES OF DOMINATION AND PATTERNS OF COALITION 71
   C. INCREASE IN THE INFORMATION LOAD WITH WHICH ORGANISATIONS IN A FIELD MUST CONTEND 74
   D. DEVELOPMENT OF A MUTUAL AWARENESS AMONG PARTICIPANTS IN A SET OF ORGANISATIONS THAT THEY ARE INVOLVED IN A COMMON ENTERPRISE 75
   E. STRUCTURATION OF THE TRANSNATIONAL ORGANISATIONAL FIELD OF COURTS: CONCLUSIONS 77

V. IMPLICATIONS AND SUGGESTIONS FOR ADDITIONAL RESEARCH 77
   A. INSTITUTIONAL ISOMORPHISM 78
   B. ORGANISATIONAL ARCHETYPES 79
   C. RESPONSES TO INSTITUTIONAL PRESSURES 81
   D. IMPLICATIONS AND SUGGESTIONS: CONCLUSIONS 82

VI. CONCLUSION 82

The Confederal Come-back: Rediscovering the Confederal Form for a Transnational World 85

1. INTRODUCTION 85
   1.1. STRUCTURE, APPROACH AND LIMITS 86

2. CONCEPTS AND TERMINOLOGY: SPECIFIC AND GENERAL CONCEPTS USED 87

3. THE EU AND THE US: A CONFEDERAL COMPARISON 89
   3.1. THE ROAD TO CONFEDERATION 90
   3.2. BRIEF OVERVIEW OF THE ARTICLES 90
   3.3. A SUCCESSFUL FAILURE: CHALLENGES AND DIFFICULTIES OF ASSESSMENT 91
      3.3.1. ‘THE FAILURE OF THIS OUR CURRENT GOVERNMENT’ 92
3.4. Reversing confederalism: The federal modifications

3.4.1. Fundamental modifications
3.4.2. Structural modifications
3.4.3. Increased competences and implied powers
3.4.4. Institutional modifications and the system of representation

3.5. A comparative grid

4. European Union and the (con)federal comparative grid

4.1. Overall comparative conclusion

5. The Modified Confederation Form

5.1. The inverted confederation: Europe as Empire

5.2. Inverting the confederal pattern

5.2.1. The structural benefits of inversion
5.2.2. The structural-institutional benefits of inversion
5.2.3. The self-deepening effect of the internal focus

5.3. The Modified Confederation: Combining a confederal foundation with a federalised superstructure

5.4. The structural benefits of a federalized superstructure: Negative integration

5.4.1. The role of negative integration: A confederal backbone
5.4.2. The structural benefits of a federalized superstructure: The importance of adaptability and pseudo-amendment

5.5. Rule by law, self-control and the importance of stable Member States

5.5.1. The importance of stable and well-constituted members for confederal rule

5.5.2. The (more) stable basis of the EU and the capacity of self-control
5.5.3. The rule of law, the USB of confederal organization
5.5.4. Law’s empire and the plural nature of the EU order

5.6. Back to Madison’s Score Card: evaluating the modifications

5.6.1. Madison’s score card: a clear pass grade

5.7. The price of modification: Of new and exacerbated problems

6. The Modified Confederation Form as a Model for a Plural and Transnational Reality

7. Conclusion: Transnationalism and a Confederation Come Back?

African Globalization and Self-determination: Between International Law Tradition and Transnational Realities

I. Africa and International Law

A. Africa as the cradle of modern international law.
B. International law in the African postcolony.

1. Continuity of colonial pragmatism and virtuality of pan-Africanism.
2. Contemporary forms of international law in Africa.

a. (Sub-)regional economic integration projects.
b. Human rights instruments and the evolution of international criminal law.
c. International economic law and Africa.
II. AFRICA AND GLOBALIZATION

A. International Law versus Globalization.
   1. The dichotomy between globalization and international law.
   2. China, or the lack thereof, in African international law.
B. The Quest for African Ownership in a Transnational Consciousness.
   1. Acknowledging the limited legality of the transnational reality.
   2. Back to the basics: Civil society and democratic participation.

PART II. TRANSNATIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS
PARTIE II. DROIT TRANSNATIONAL ET DROITS FONDAMENTAUX

Anti-piracy or Anti-privacy: ACTA and the Enforcement of Copyright in Cyberspace

I. Introduction
   152
II. ACTA: A brief history and text developments
   153
III. Copyright enforcement and the role of IAPs: the EU legal framework
   A. EU secondary legislation and EUChFR
   158
   B. General monitoring by IAPs: Scarlet v SABAM
   162
IV. The guidelines of ECtHR case-law
   165
V. ACTA and communications surveillance: the road towards ‘graduated response’?
   169
VI. Conclusion
   178

The impact of transnational law in the intersection between the international investment regime and international human rights law in Latin-America

I. Introduction
   182
II. Protection des étrangers en Amérique latine : de la Doctrine Calvo au système interaméricain des droits de l’homme
   A. La Doctrine Calvo à l’épreuve de la protection diplomatique.
   185
   B. L’instrumentalisation des droits de l’homme pour la mise en œuvre de la Doctrine Calvo
   187
III. Les traités de promotion et protection des investissements et le développement séparé des droits de l’homme
   A. Les déséquilibres créés par les traités concernant les investissements
   190
   B. Divergences entre la protection des investissements étrangers et les droits de l’homme en Amérique Latine
   197
IV. Les bénéfices d’une approche transnationale pour l’articulation des droits de l’homme et du droit des investissements dans la région
   201
A. L’articulation des libertés économiques et des droits fondamentaux dans l’U.E. 201
B. Les défis des structures récentes latino-américaines 204

Global Power Shifts and Transnational Law – A Case Study of Brazil and the Human Right to Health 211

I. INTRODUCTION 211

II. NARRATIVES AND THE CREATION OF LAW 215

III. BRAZIL’S NATIONAL AIDS PROGRAMME – A NEW VISION OF HOW TO FIGHT HIV/AIDS 219

IV. SURFING ON THE WAVE OF SUCCESS – BRAZIL’S FURTHER ACTIVITIES 224
   A. The Doha Declaration on the TRIPS Agreement and Public Health 224
   B. The ‘Paragraph-6-Issue’ 227
   C. The UN Human Rights Council 229
   D. The World Health Assembly Meetings 230
   E. Brazil’s aggressive stance vis-a-vis pharmaceutical companies 233

V. CONCLUSION 238

PART III. LEGAL PLURALISM AND RISK REGULATION
PARTIE III. PLURALISME JURIDIQUE ET RÉGULATION DES RISQUES

The European Union as a Global Producer of Transnational Law of Risk Regulation: A Case Study on Chemicals Regulation 243

I. INTRODUCTION 243

II. CIRCULATION OF LEGAL MODELS AND TNLRR 245

III. EU RISK REGULATION AND ITS IMPACT 249

IV. A CASE STUDY ON CHEMICAL RISK REGULATION: REACH 253
   A. The EU REACH Regulation 253
   B. Global Influence of REACH 256
      1. China 257
      2. South Korea 259
      3. United States 260
   C. Reasons for Circulation: Interplay of Interests 262
      1. Vanity and Admiration 263
      2. Environmental Policy 263
      3. Foreign Policy Strategy 264
      4. Economic Interests 265
   D. Will It Succeed? 266

V. CONCLUSION 268
Scientification of Politics or Politicization of Science:
Reassessing the Limits of the Codex Alimentarius Commission 271

I. INTRODUCTION 272

II. “Scientification of Politics” in INTERNATIONAL FOOD SAFETY LAWMAKING 275
   A. The WTO’s Technocratic Turn and Its Influence on International Food Safety Lawmaking 275
   B. The WHO’s Indirect and Technical Role in International Food Safety Lawmaking 277
   C. Codex as the Central Platform for International Food Safety Lawmaking 279

III. “Politicization of Science” in INTERNATIONAL FOOD SAFETY LAWMAKING 280
   A. Structure and Processes of the Codex 280
   B. Paradigm Shift in the Post-WTO Codex: A Politicized Forum 284
   C. A Multi-year Deadlock in a Divided Codex: “Politicization of Science” and the Ractopamine Dispute 285

IV. BETWEEN TECHNOCRACY AND DEMOCRACY: MULTILATERAL COOPERATION FAILURE 289

V. THE FORGOTTEN ROLE OF PROCEDURAL LEGITIMACY: FOSTERING ACCOUNTABILITY THROUGH TRANSPARENCY AND AVOIDANCE OF CONFLICTS OF INTEREST 291
   A. Mechanisms for Avoiding Conflicts of Interests 293
   B. Requirements to Foster Transparency and Openness 295

VI. CONCLUSION 296

Des limites et possibilités pour la protection de l’environnement en droit transnational : le cas du CIRDI et le cas des « MARCHÉS » de compensation pour l’environnement 299

INTRODUCTION 301

1. LE CAS DU CIRDI : DES ENJEUX POUR L’ENVIRONNEMENT FACE AUX EFFETS DE DROIT TRANSGNATIONAL 306
   1.1. Le cas « Santa Elena » 307
   1.2. Le cas “Metalclad” 309
   1.3. Le cas du « Tecmed » 311
   1.4. Les limites pour la protection de l’environnement en droit transnational face aux cas au CIRDI 313

2. LE CAS DES COMPENSATIONS POUR L’ENVIRONNEMENT : DES POSSIBILITÉS POUR L’ENVIRONNEMENT EN DROIT TRANSGNATIONAL 318
   2.1. Le cas des « mitigating banking » américain et français : de l’incitation à la corégulation 319
   2.2. La “Servidão Florestal” brésilienne : de l’autorégulation à la corégulation 322
   2.3. Des limites et des possibilités pour la protection de l’environnement en droit transnational face aux cas de compensation 324

CONCLUSION 327
GOING FROM ONE EXTREME TO THE OTHER

GOING FROM ONE EXTREME TO THE OTHER: FOOD SECURITY AND EXPORT RESTRICTIONS IN THE EU-CARIFORUM ECONOMIC PARTNERSHIP AGREEMENT

I. INTRODUCTION

II. WHAT EXPORT RESTRICTIONS ARE AND WHY THEY ARE RELEVANT FOR FOOD SECURITY
   A. Export restrictions in the global food crisis
   B. Export restrictions on food in WTO law
   C. Export restrictions and free trade agreements

III. THE EXTERNAL POLICY OF THE EUROPEAN UNION ON EXPORT RESTRICTIONS
   A. Institutional dimension
   B. Export restrictions and the EU raw materials initiative

IV. EXPORT RESTRICTIONS IN THE EU-CARIFORUM ECONOMIC PARTNERSHIP AGREEMENT
   A. The context of the Agreement
   B. Article 14 and 26 of the EU-CARIFORUM Economic Partnership Agreement

V. NEW CHALLENGES FOR FOOD SECURITY
   A. Export restrictions as short-term response to food crisis
   B. Loss of revenues
   C. Fragmentation of international trade law

VI. FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS

PART IV. PUBLIC AND PRIVATE ACTORS IN TRANSNATIONAL REGULATION

LEX SPORTIVA: A PLAYGROUND FOR TRANSNATIONAL LAW

INTRODUCTION

I. LEX SPORTIVA AS TRANSNATIONAL LAW
   A. Hartian benchmark for transnational law
   B. Lex sportiva as “Hartian” transnational law
      1. What is lex sportiva?
      2. The structure of Lex Sportiva, a Hartian legal system?

   II. IS LEX SPORTIVA LEGITIMATE TRANSNATIONAL LAW?
      A. The “casse-tête” of legitimacy in transnational law
      B. A critical view of the legitimacy of lex sportiva

   III. DEALING WITH THE MULTITUDE: ON CONFLICTS AND CONVERGENCES IN THE TRANSNATIONAL LEGAL SPACE
      A. The complexity of transnational legal pluralism
B. Conflicting pluralism: Lex sportiva versus EU law 381
C. Converging pluralism: Lex sportiva in EU law 384
Conclusions 388

Codes of Conduct as Private Legal Transplant: the Case of European Extractive MNEs 391
I. Introduction 392
II. The four Codes: genealogy, rationale and objectives of extractive sector’s self-regulation 397
III. From the Center to the Periphery: Codes of Conduct as Proxies of Private Legal Transplant 400
IV. Toward a bottom-to-bottom Transnational Governance au savoir d’Europe? 407
V. Codes of conduct between universalism and localism 410
VI. Legal Overdose and Internationalization: Inconsistency and paradoxes behind a smokescreen 417
VII. Conclusion 422

Le rôle des experts dans l’élaboration de la Convention du Cap : entre autorité et légitimité 427
Introduction 427
I. Les acteurs privés légitimés par leur expertise 431
A. La légitimité démocratique comme discours rhétorique 431
B. La connaissance technique au service de la production juridique : le rôle des experts dans l’élaboration de la Convention du Cap 434
1. L’identification des obstacles au marché du financement aéronautique transnational 435
2. La consécration de l’approche économique et fonctionnelle par les experts aéronautiques dans la recherche de solutions adaptées 437
3. L’institutionnalisation des experts 439
II. Décourir le discours des experts 440
A. La nature des experts 441
1. La dépendance des experts à l’économie de marché 441
2. La désunion entre l’expertise et le politique 442
B. La légitimité des experts 444
1. Quant à la légitimité par les fondements 444
2. Quant à la légitimité procédurale 448
3. Quant à la légitimité par les résultats 449
III. L’Europe, gardien du temple de la légitimité 453
Conclusion 456

BRUYLANT
Responsibility-Sharing Agreements Between UNHCR and Refugee Host States: Prospects for A Transnational Law of Refugee Protection

I. INTRODUCTION

II. THE SCOPE OF RESPONSIBILITY-SHARING AGREEMENTS BETWEEN UNHCR AND REFUGEE HOST STATES
   A. Memoranda of Understanding
   B. Refugee registration and status determination
   C. Facilitating refugee access to social and economic rights

III. EXTENDING STATE POWER THROUGH DELEGATION OF RESPONSIBILITIES TO UNHCR
   A. Delegation of responsibility
   B. State consent
   C. Membership in the international community
   D. Framing the political as humanitarian
   E. Challenges to the scope and durability of UNHCR’s mandate

IV. CONTESTING STATE POWER THROUGH DELEGATION OF RESPONSIBILITIES TO UNHCR
   A. From delegation to implementation of human rights responsibilities
   B. Expanding sites of accountability
   C. Reinvigoration of human rights norms

V. CONCLUSION

Regionalizing Multilateralism: the Effect of Russia’s Accession to the WTO on Existing Regional Integration Schemes in the Former Soviet Space

1. INTRODUCTION
2. METHOD
3. WTO & REGIONAL TRADE AGREEMENTS—CONCENTRIC/VENN LIBERALIZATION
4. UTILITY OF FAMILY APPROACHES TO TRADE REGIONALISM, TWO CIS CASE STUDIES
   4.1. Dispute Resolution Process as Site of Contestation Between WTO and RTA
   4.2. RTAs & Negotiation Leverage Within the WTO
   4.3. Historical Context of RTA Integration in the CIS-Space
5. CONCLUSION

Table des matières